CETL Weekly Lifeline for Teaching Thru the Pandemic

This weekly newsletter will display the content and links for Monday Basic and Wednesday Wisdom along with other resources to support our teaching and student learning.

Thank you to Dr. Winona Taylor our colleague from Educational Leadership for sharing this opportunity for faculty! If you find something that you would like to include in next week's newsletter please send an email to egar@bowiestate.edu.

Enhance distance learning and improve your skills with platform tips and tricks for faculty.

Looking for help with the transition to teaching remotely? ProQuest is hosting free training webinars for faculty for its major platforms. Check out the schedule below with course descriptions and to register. To register for a ProQuest seminar:

ProQuest Ebook Central: Tips & Tricks for Faculty
Tuesday, April 28th
2:00 P.M. EDT

During this new and often unfamiliar teaching and learning environment, students and instructors must rely on as much electronic content as possible. While the physical library may be unavailable, books are not. ProQuest's Ebook Central ebook titles may be used as course reserves, made into supplemental reading lists (and shared easily with students), highlighted and annotated for focused reading and reviewing. After this 30-minute session, faculty will have the knowledge to locate titles applicable to their courses, create lists of books and recommend them to students and discover Ebook Central tools to assist with research.

ProQuest Academic Platform: Tips & Tricks for Faculty
Thursday, April 30th
1:00 P.M. EDT

While institutions are operating remotely, faculty are faced with new and unfamiliar tasks, such as integrating resources into Learning Management Systems or institutional websites, holding lectures and discussions virtually and providing research support to students who are navigating this new virtual environment. This 30-minute webinar will highlight the tools in the ProQuest Academic Platform (<https://search.proquest.com>) that simplify these tasks. Attendees will walk away able to find their institution's ProQuest databases, direct students to tools that help them navigate the research process and share and embed resources.

Alexander Street Video: Tips & Tricks for Faculty
Tuesday, May 5th
2:00 P.M. EDT

Are you looking for ways to engage students in the online instruction environment? Maybe a video you've traditionally shown as part of your coursework is now inaccessible since campus and the library are unavailable. The Alexander Street Video platform (<https://video.alexanderstreet.com>) provides options for working in a new online teaching environment using video. From simply watching, to searching transcripts for the exact content you need, to embedding video in a Learning Management System, this 30-minute session will examine how video can be used to support teaching and learning, student success and stress relief through entertainment and education.

Alexander Street
Multimedia: Tips &
Tricks for Faculty – Thursday, May
7th
2:00 P.M. EDT

In this new virtual learning environment, faculty are being asked to incorporate a variety of multimedia resources into their courses to engage students from a distance. This 30-minute webinar will highlight the tools in the Alexander Street multimedia platform (<https://search.alexanderstreet.com>) that simplifies this task. Attendees will walk away able to find their institution's Alexander Street collections, create audio and video clips, build customized playlists complete with external links and share and embed these resources.

Can't make it? Register for the webinars anyway and receive the recordings.

Enjoy! Please let us know if you have any questions.

ProQuest is standing by to help you with any issues you're experiencing as demands for remote access and distance learning increase.
